colour grading: a creative process that can get the best out of your video project

Video can be treated like still images: brightness, contrast and saturation are optimised to give a high quality polish, making even low budget work stand out.

we can manipulate colours to achieve desired looks and styles together we can do great things, whether you're a museum or PR company, we listen and develop to give you the best service we make a great team to work with and can integrate seamlessly into any workflow what do our clients think? Tower Bridge

"Screensaver has set the standard in excellence for all projects undertaken for Tower Bridge Exhibition and Events."

Chris Earle
Senior Marketing Executive
Tower Bridge

"The vision and creativity that they have displayed, combined with an unsurpassed technical know-how, has kept us coming back for more. We initially required a short piece to showcase one of our event spaces, and the imagination, quality and excitement translated to film was beyond compare. This has led to Screensaver being the obvious choice for further, very different pieces ranging from exhibition footage to an impressive film showing the inner and outer workings of a bridge-lift."

"We look forward to a long and successful relationship with Screensaver and would recommend their services without hesitation."
